IS Glendale a safe place to invest your money? This question is probably asked many times by those having money to invest. We would reply to this question with an emphatic "Yes."

The future of Southern California and especially Los Angeles and its environs is already assured.

A few years ago, before the world war, Los Angeles was looked upon as a tourist city. The merchants enjoyed good business throughout the tourist season and after that practically shut up shop. That time is now passed, for manufacturing concerns have recognized the fact that we have many benefits to offer them and they have been establishing factories in unbelievable numbers until now Los Angeles is recognized as a manufacturing center.

Although Glendale is lacking in factories, as the nearest neighbor of Los Angeles she shares in all the benefits of the manufacturing of that city. This fact is one of the surest reasons for Glendale's continued prosperity.

Is there any reason for us not thinking that Glendale is as attractive in every way as Hollywood? We are located in a valley which lends beauty to our homesites and there is still enough vacant property left to accommodate a city many times our present size. People living in Glendale have all the benefits of a large city and those of a smaller one. Glendale real estate is still undervalued and will continue to be a safer investment from the standpoint of the small investor than that of our sister city as long as our values are under Hollywood's. We are comparing Hollywood's values to those of Glendale for the reason that the locations of the two cities are similar.

So it is our opinion that Glendale real estate is a good buy.

As the interest in our columns grows, our correspondence increases.

We welcome these communications from our readers for it is through this agency that our policy is formed.

This is your paper. We are your agent, and we want to voice your sentiments.

The Glendale Daily Press has a progressive policy, which is controlled only by its readers, so when the spirit moves you, write us.

When you write be sure and sign your name. Anonymous communications lose weight. Again, for our own information and protection it is essential that each communication be signed. If you wish names withheld from our columns, tell us so and we will be glad to grant your request.

We have been receiving complaints from several of our readers on the fact that lately there have been several beggars in Glendale, some on the street corners and others begging from house to house. We have a city ordinance against this and it should be enforced.

While we have the utmost pity for the man or woman who is unable to earn a livelihood on account of being crippled or having poor health, for the professional beggars who are able bodied there is no place in Glendale and they should be told to go.

MRS. MOORE TELLS OF THE DISTRICT P. T. A. MEET

Mrs. E. B. Moore, president of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher Associations, attended the district conference of the California Congress of Mothers, P. T. A. on Thursday, February 15, in Los Angeles. It has been decided that $10 in prize of $5, $3 and $2 will be given the individual association whose students make the best poster showing school activities.

The nominating committee of the first district will meet Thursday, March 1, at 10 a. m., in the board of education rooms, Hall of Records, Los Angeles. The Glendale delegates are Mrs. H. V. Henry and Mrs. A. H. Brown. The next conference will be held in Pomona on March 22. The subject will be "Recreation, Education and Child Labor."

It is held by scientists that a human being cannot live without a brain, which only goes to prove how mistaken scientists can be occasionally.

AMENDMENT TO CHARTER IS PROPOSED

Six Will Be Placed on the Ballot at April 10th Election

DEFINE AUTHORITY
Idea of Revolving Fund Is Presented in One Section

Six amendments to the Glendale city charter will be presented for the decision of the voters of the city of Glendale at the election on April 10, it was decided by the council last night. These are as follows:

1—Provides for a system of procedure for the construction of public work, including street work, and other municipal improvements, and provides for a revolving fund to finance this work. This will enable the city to improve its streets and thereby eliminate any unnecessary expense to the people.

2—This will change the charter so that the council may set the limits within which salaries may be paid. This will eliminate the necessity of amending the salary ordinance whenever it is desired to change any salary.

3—This increases the petty cash fund from $100 to $500, so as to facilitate the payment of small demands.

4—This reduces the time from five to two days in which an ordinance may be passed after its presentation. At the present time an ordinance, after its presentation, cannot be passed within five days. This section will reduce this time to two days. This also provides that an ordinance not penal in nature may go into effect at the pleasure of the council.

5—Provides that an appointee to an elective office or position shall serve until a successor to that office is elected at the next election. This does away with the holding of a special election to fill a vacancy in any elective position.

6—This provides that a candidate for the office of city attorney need not have been a qualified elector of the city of Glendale for two years, as at present. The candidate for this position, however, must be a qualified elector of this city, before becoming available for the office.

GLENDALE AVENUE PETITIONS ARE CONSIDERED

Ordered Back to Signers for Designation of Paving Material

Petitions for the improvement of Glendale avenue were presented to the Glendale city council by the property owners along that thoroughfare and also the Union Pacific railway, Thursday night.

The Union Pacific asked that the street be paved with concrete of several inches in thickness and a wearing surface. The petition from the property owners did not mention any kind of pavement, but C. F. Stuart, owner of the Glendale pharmacy, corner Glendale avenue and Broadway, stated this morning that a large majority of those signing the petition are in favor of having the street paved with concrete.

The petitions were, however, ordered sent back to the property owners for definite instructions as to the kind of pavement required.

On motion of Councilman Davis the city engineer and city attorney were instructed to start the proceedings for the paving of Glendale avenue.

It is understood that the work of paving this street will be rushed as rapidly as possible.

CHILD WELFARE WORK OUTLINED BEFORE CLUB

Mrs. E. K. Foster of Juvenile Protective Ass'n. Addresses Club

"Child Welfare" was the subject of the inspiring talk at the meeting of the Thursday Afternoon Club yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, Laurel street and Brand boulevard, by Mrs. E. K. Foster, president of the Juvenile Protective Association of Los Angeles. This was preceded by a short business session in charge of Mrs. E. V. Bacon, in the absence of the president, Mrs. W. C. Mabry, who is ill. Routine business was transacted and reports made.

Mrs. Foster dealt with her subject both from the mothers' viewpoint and that of the Juvenile Protective Association.

She said in part as follows: "The association was organized about twelve years ago to do protective and preventive work and to keep the children out of the courts and away from the charities. We have found that public charity has a most demoralizing effect upon children and should be avoided except in extreme cases. The greatest piece of philanthropic work that can be done is to get people established by a little neighborly, friendly help. We believe that the thing to do is to help people to help themselves."

"The association deals with the unfortunate and poor children but not in an official, condescending, sort of way. We have come to more and more deplore the institutional attitude towards children. Usually the child in trouble is not to blame at all. The records show that out of 100 complaints brought to the association, possibly six or seven deal with the child's own conduct and out of these analysis often shows the children are simply victims of conditions."

"The broken home is the basis for most of the troubles of childhood. Not homes broken by death but homes broken by inharmonious separation, divorce and desertion. This was found to be demonstrated in the orphanages in the vicinity of Los Angeles."

"We believe in the strictest kind of rules for admission of children to orphanages in this locality. Children in the institutions were not there, it was found, because parents were old or poor or sick but because parents were separated and perhaps mother had to go to work and pay for their care; or because mother and father both wanted to go to work."

"The best institution in the world takes away from the child something, some gift that God gave it and makes it an individual, a creature. Our institutions now, under the supervision given them, are high grade. They are as good as you can make them. The Jewish Orphans' Home is establishing in connection with the home a home finding department. No matter how hard we try, if children remain long in an institution they bear the marks of it in their minds and bodies all of their days. They have their use as temporary aids only."

The importance of looking after every child in the community as well as in the individual family was emphasized by Mrs. Foster: "In the association there are two main branches to the work—case work, which deals with problems of the individual child or family, and condition work, the problems of which deal with the neighborhood, industrial and social conditions."

Mrs. Foster warned the club women to be alert and organize a clean-air committee, the importance of which before factories appear here, she pointed out.

Mrs. Foster presented a plan for the formation of an auxiliary of the Juvenile Protective Association in Glendale and invited any member who would like to help in cases in this vicinity to cooperate with the field workers. In closing her talk Mrs. Foster said: "Our work is really worth while and is really community motherhood." A rising vote of thanks was given to the speaker, after which refreshments of tea, sandwiches and cake were served by the hostesses: Mrs. A. L. Bancroft, Mrs. A. J. Becker, Mrs. A. Valuel, Mrs. John Pemberton, Mrs. Servier and Mrs. Archer.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS OF SCOUTS

Col. Everington Tells of the Work of the Teams Up to Date

The boy scout campaign was the chief theme of the luncheon of the Rotary Club Thursday noon when the fifty members and guests heard the report of Col. James Everington, chairman of the drive committee, that excellent progress is being made. Arthur Dillburn, in commenting on the drive, recommended a "Community Chest" for Glendale and the suggestion was well received.

Francis Henry, as usual, led the community singing, and visiting Rotarians who responded to the call of President Roy Kent were: J. Will Johnson of Pueblo, Colo.; W. Thorne of Moose Jaw, Canada; Charles H. Bowen of Olympia, Wash.; Fred M. De Riemer of Spokane, Wash. Other guests were: James W. Everington, Clarence E. Kimlin, Ed N. Radke, of the Kiwanis Club; R. W. Jessup, Warren Z. Newton, F. E. Hoyt, C. C. Coughlin, W. H. Appleton, Wesley Waring, Dr. J. Belyea, all of the Exchange Club; John Campbell of this city; D. W. Pollard of Los Angeles, and Harold F. Benner, local scout executive.

Richardson D. White and "Val" Hollister thanked the club for the holiday remembrances with which the organization always celebrates the natal days of members—a rosebud in a rose vase.

Rule Downing responded to the call of President Kent for an account of his early life.

Harry Webb gave an interesting report of experiences during his eastern trip.

Secretary J. Herbert Smith read a communication from the San Bernardino Rotary Club inviting the organization to be its guest at the luncheon February 24 and afterwards attend the Orange Show. He also read an invitation to attend the performance to be given the same evening in the Glendale Theatre by the Glendale Community Players.

Subscriptions to the boy scout drive were reported by patrol leaders from the Kiwanis and Exchange clubs and D. W. Pollard made a fine talk on scouting.

Announcement was made that David Roth, the memory expert, had accepted the invitation to be present at the club's anniversary banquet to be given March 8.

DE MOLAY ORDER GETS TOGETHER AT BANQUET

A banquet and informal get-together meeting was attended by 45 members of the Glendale chapter, Order of De Molay, at the Masonic temple last night. James Thompson, master counsellor, was toast-master of the evening. Among the talks given were the following: "The Development of Our Chapter," by Joe Thompson; "The Future of Our Chapter," by Francis Read; "Our Social Activities," by Allen Pollock; "Our Literary Success," by Forrest Jordan; "Our Financial Achievements," by Stillman Chase. The De Molay chapter is planning to hold a dance tomorrow, Saturday night, February 17, at Masonic temple. Mr. Brewster, in charge of the high dramatic work, gave several readings.

S. W. STERN IS IN RACE FOR CITY COUNCIL

"Verdugo Canyon Section Should Have Representative," He Says

S. W. Stern, 2011 North Verdugo road, has entered the councilman race.

Mr. Stern stated this morning that he will try to gain one of the seats that will be vacated at the coming election.

"The Verdugo Canyon section should have a representative on the Glendale city council," said Mr. Stern this morning. "The people up there are paying a great deal of money into the city treasury in the form of taxes every year, and it is nothing but fair that they should have some say as to how that money is spent."

"My friends have been persistently asking me for months to run for the city council and I have decided to accede to their requests. I have absolutely no axes to grind. I am interested in the city as a whole, and if I am elected I will certainly give all sections a square deal."

GOOD FELLOWSHIP SOCIAL CLUB TO ENTERTAIN

Burbank Men to Go to Military Meeting in Los Angeles

The Good Fellowship Social Club is arranging for a "large" time next Tuesday evening. There is to be a special entertainment beginning at 8 o'clock. After the program the hosts, Tom Walker, G. Summers and J. C. Isbell, will serve refreshments.

SEND IN YOUR BIT IF TEAMS DO NOT GET AROUND TO YOU

It has been called to the attention of the Boy Scout campaign workers that there are hundreds of people in Glendale who are eager to help boost the Boy Scouts by giving of their means to help make the campaign a success. Most of these people have been waiting for a member of some of the teams to call on them, but as it will be impossible for the men on the teams to reach more than one-thirtieth of the city's population, those who have not been interviewed already are urged to send in their subscription at once to the following address: Roy L. Kent, treasurer, 130 S. Brand. "It is very important that this campaign be brought to a successful end by Saturday," declared Dr. E. H. Parker, campaign chairman, this morning.

"The Rotary, Kiwanis and Exchange clubs must make a big final effort today and Saturday to make the thermometer boil over. They all voted unanimously to get behind this Boy Scout campaign 100 percent and I can hardly feel that they will permit it to close without reaching their goal," Mr. Parker added.

BRAND LAND OWNERS SEE THE COUNCIL

Question of Payment for Electricity to Be Considered Monday

WILL BE EXPOSITION

Many Ordinances Are Passed and Other Action Taken

After a two hour and a half discussion the hearing was continued until February 23. The matter will be taken up in private session next Monday night for a thorough discussion by the council.

Permit was given last night for the holding of the Merchants' Exposition and Automobile Show on the east side of Brand boulevard between Lexington and Doran and the 255 feet on the west side of the street between Milford and Doran. This included the sidewalk, parking and ten feet of road that lies on the east side of Brand. Authority was also given to hang three immense banners at three different points in Glendale.

Cornwell & Henderson were granted 30 days' extension on the improvement of Palmer, Adams and Tyler.

The Los Angeles Paving Co. was granted an extension of two weeks on the improvement of Los Feliz road.

The following ordinances were adopted:

An ordinance establishing the grade of Tenth, Fifth and Fourth streets.

City attorney and city engineers were instructed to draw up the necessary proceedings for the laying of a 16-inch main for a distance of 600 feet east of Glendale avenue on Monterey road.

CONTRACTORS TO BE HELD TO CONTRACTS

Council Signifies Intention to End Granting of Extensions

The members of the Glendale council Thursday night signified their intention of holding the street contractors who do work in Glendale more strictly to their contracts. There has been altogether too much in the way of extension of time granted various contractors, this resulting in the work being held up an unreasonable length of time, it was said.

This decision was reached as a result of a protest that was made by Alex Mitchell with regard to the extensions of time being given the contractor on Rixiana avenue and other streets in the northwest section. He stated that some of those roads were practically impassable and that notwithstanding this fact the contractors were granted one extension of time after another. Several other residents of the northwest section were also present and spoke of the poor condition of the streets in the region of the Grand View school, saying that it was almost impossible for the children to get to school in rainy weather.

The Los Angeles Paving company asked for an extension of 60 days on the improvement of Los Feliz road. To start this movement of holding the contractors as nearly as possible to their contracts this firm was granted only a two-weeks extension.

SOME 'STEPPING' SATURDAY NIGHT IN GLENDALE

Three Public and Semi-Public Dances Scheduled for Evening

With three public and semi-public dances and one private dancing party to which over 100 guests have been invited, scheduled to take place in Glendale tomorrow night there will be a good percentage of the residents of this city "tripping the light fantastic." The members of the Shakespeare section of the Tuesday Afternoon club, of which Mrs. Walter Jones is caretaker, are giving a dance at the Pearl Keller studio, 108 North Brand boulevard, at 8-10 o'clock. This will be for the benefit of the clubhouse furnishings. Single tickets are 50 cents or $1 per couple. The members of the Glendale Post of the American Legion will hold a Valentine dance at the Legion hall, 610 East Broadway. The local chapter of the Order of De Molay will hold a dance at the Masonic temple. So, there will be "some stepping" in Glendale tomorrow night.

FOUNDING OF ALL P. T. A. WORK TO BE MARKED

Twenty-sixth Anniversary Will Be Celebrated on February 17

Members of the Parent-Teacher Associations of the city are interested in the special message which has been sent out by the California State Chairman of the National Congress of Mothers and Parent-Teacher Associations, Mrs. H. G. Tardy of Oakland. February 17th will be the 26th anniversary of the founding of the national organization and will be fittingly celebrated in many associations. In the message Mrs. Tardy reviews the history of the movement and the work that has been done in California, particularly since 1900. She sets forth the aims and purposes of the Congress and says: "We are, indeed, a society of encouragers and builders of tomorrow. The home and the school are two of the corner stones of our organization and if they are properly laid, the other two corner stones—the church and the state, will be taken care of."

THE FRENCH ACADEMY which was created by Richelieu, was encouraged by Colbert during the reign of Louis XIV. This body centered on making the French tongue more eloquent. It is now the greatest of honors for a Frenchman to be one of the forty members.

FATHER O'NEILL APPROVES BOY SCOUT IDEALS

Pastor of Holy Family Church Declares It Puts "Gang" Spirit Out

"Boy Scouts of America." That is merely the organized name of all the boys in America. Who can help but approve?

"I was asked the other day by one of the officials of the Verdugo Hills Boy Scout Council if the Catholic church approved of the boy scout movement," so declared Father James S. O'Neill, pastor of the Holy Family Church, Glendale. "I answered him with the statement quoted above, and it is at the invitation of this same man that I have written the following endorsement of the boy scout movement."

"Scouting kindles the spark of manhood in thousands of young men who but for associations with other boys might be dull, or worse. The scout patrol puts the street 'gang' out of business by providing the same air of fellowship together with more enlightening and idealistic work and entertainment."

"As the scout law says, 'Be Trustworthy,' how may a little fellow turn a nasty trick and face his pals again as an equal?"

"The scout law says, 'Be Helpful,' and is heeded. A boy's parents might discover the same thing inordinately without half the happy result that comes when the voices of several hundred thousand other lads, scouts, urge a boy to kindness. 'Efforts of the Verdugo Hills District Council of the Boy Scouts of America to form fresh branches of their free of youth have my blessing, as the efforts of the scout movement throughout America brighten the blessings of His Holiness, the late Pope Benedict XI."

"Big names are contained in the bureau of Catholic extension of the scout movement, which is composed of the Most Rev. Patrick J. Hayes, archbishop of New York; the Most Rev. James A. Keane, archbishop of Dubuque; the Most Rev. Edward J. Hanna, archbishop of San Francisco; the Most Rev. Jeremiah J. Harty, bishop of Omaha; Chaplain Francis P. Duffy, of New York; the Rev. John F. White, prominent Catholic educational director; Chaplain Francis A. Kelley, special national field scout commissioner; Michael J. Slattery, executive secretary of the national Catholic war council; John W. Welch, scout commissioner of Omaha, Neb.; A. Chappin, Charles, Ernest G. Albuquerque, Conde B. Pallen, editor of the Catholic Encyclopedia, and Victor P. Rider, special national field scout commissioner of New York City."

"A world that observed the tenets of the Boy Scouts of America would be a far better world than the one in which we live. Scouting is the children's crusade of the twentieth century. The Bible foretold that a little child shall lead them."

"Approval is only a small thing."

Judge Chase to Supply Tax Blanks

Income tax returns must be made by March 15.

Judge Harry W. Chase, the new justice of the peace for Burbank township, has provided a number of the various forms for making the returns and announces he is aiding many Glendale people in filling in the reports. For the benefit of newcomers and for those who have misplaced the forms sent them by the government he has secured a large supply for distribution.

Leslie R. Tarr, who has also had considerable experience in income tax work, is assisting Judge Chase, the latter reports.

GLENDAL E AVENUE CHILDREN WIN MUCH APPLAUSE

"Steadfast Princess" Is Pretty Little Play at the High School

A wonderfully pretty little play was the "Steadfast Princess," produced by a company of children from the Glendale Avenue School under the direction of Miss Gladys Sharpe at Glendale High Thursday afternoon and evening before large audiences.

It demonstrated what excellent work can be done with simple properties and clever children who are willing to work as conscientiously in presenting such a drama. Fifty children took part, including dancing fairies and brownies, who had several very pretty ensemble numbers and the players who had speaking parts.

It was the kind of a drama children and grown folk enjoy. The Princess for whom the crown eventually became very heavy, had been abducted by her wise uncle on the death of her father and brought up among humble surroundings until she should be old enough to reclaim the throne and wise enough to protect herself against the machinations of two counselors who had compassed the ruin of her father and who were always plotting for their own advantage. The little princess, ignorant of her rank, and of her relationship to the toymaker, who is really her uncle, under whom she works as a painter of toys, has her dream of a fairy prince who appears with the winged fairies from time to time. How he became a reality, and what became of the wicked counselors, constitutes the pretty story which was so well portrayed.

Before the curtain went up and between the acts, excellent music was furnished by a school orchestra, directed by Miss Brenna. The piano music for the fairy dances was played by Miss Sharpe. The school is fortunate in having a vice principal capable of rehearsing and directing such a performance.

In producing the play Miss Sharpe was assisted by Miss Alice Lookbaugh. The stage setting in Act II was designed by Miss Helen Buck and made by manual training pupils. I. S. Mansell, R. E. Bremer and Floyd McMaster were stage managers, and the musical portion of the program was under the direction of Miss Elsa Brennehan and Mrs. Ertar Kent.

LA CRESCENTA

LA CRESCENTA CHILDREN GAVE PROGRAM

LA CRESCENTA, Feb. 16.—A splendid patriotic program by the La Crescenta school children preceded the regular meeting of the Parent-Teachers' Association last Thursday afternoon. During the business session, which was presided over by the president, Mrs. S. B. Young, a collection was taken up for the founder's day fund and also a penny collection for the relief work of the association. The school room for this district made a convincing talk of lines for the children.

Mrs. M. Adams, chairman of the relief committee made a splendid report on the work of her committee and the number of families visited.

The next meeting will be held the third Thursday in March.

THE DRAPERY SHOP HEARS FROM PRESS FOLKS

Announcing the opening of the Drapery Shop, at No. 11 Court Shops, East Broadway, last Saturday in the Glendale Daily Press, brought pleasing returns to George J. Lyons.

"It is our policy," says Mr. Lyons, "to confirm all sales as to their correctness by showing samples of draperies in the home. Daylight and artificial light are to be carefully considered in this business. We also make special efforts to make each job as original and individual in arrangement as possible."

Mr. Lyons makes it his practice to personally supervise all selections and the execution of work. Another item worth considering is the announcement made by Mr. Lyons, that the Drapery Shop will continue to make up plain curtains, without charge until a later date.

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL CLUB MEETS

Burbank Organization to Give First Dinner March 1

The Burbank Business and Professional Women are planning to give their first public dinner Thursday, March 1, when Miss Jane Humphreys of Los Angeles will be present to address the meeting. This was the decision made last night at the regular club meeting held at the Santa Rosa apartments. Each member plans to invite a guest.

The program part of the meeting Thursday evening consisted of two violin selections by Christine Crumb, and an entertaining account by Mrs. May Clark of her attendance at the Convention of Federated clubs held at Chautauqua, New York last summer.

Mrs. Clark told of the pleasure of seeing the 6000 delegates who attended, 550 of whom were from foreign countries. Speakers from all over the world related the remarkable achievements of various women's clubs.

Mrs. Clark was especially interested in the account of Mrs. Burdette when she sketched her visit to Mexico as a delegate sent by President Harding. Mrs. Thomas Edison was another notable speaker.

A glowing tribute was paid to Mrs. Winter, national president, and the state president of California, Mrs. Fitzgerald.

How California won the acceptance of its invitation for the next convention place formed a recital of an exciting contest between states.

WILL ATTEND DINNER FOR OFFICERS

Burbank Organization to Have Its First Social Tuesday

Captain F. C. Tillson, Lieutenant Harry Watson and Dr. Bell, Major in the Veterinary service, will attend the dinner tonight of the association of army officers of the United States, to be held at the Elite Cafe in Los Angeles.

About five hundred officers, present and retired, of the national guard and reserve corps, will be present. Military interests will be discussed after the dinner. These semi-monthly meetings of officers from different parts of California are proving to be delightful social affairs as well as instructive.

W. B. HOWARD IS FOLLOWED BY 'THIRTEEN'

President of the Glendale Bldg. & Loan Ass'n. Notes Its Presence

W. B. Howard, president of the Glendale Building and Loan Association, is not superstitious in the least, nor does he believe that the much shunned figures of 13 and 23 have any particular significance unless they adorn one of his pass books or certificates.

Recently Mr. Howard, became reminiscent, so much so, that he shrugged his shoulders and said: "Well, the 13th came around, yes."

W. B. HOWARD
President of Glendale Building and Loan Association

terday and my landlord sold his home on that day and we have to move again. But, really," he continued, "the thirteenth has been following me and my family pretty closely for the past forty or more years, and I have sometimes wondered how it all happened. I was married on the thirteenth, and the room number in the first hotel we stopped at while on our honeymoon was thirteen. On our Pullman ride we were assigned to berth number thirteen. Our car was number thirteen in section thirteen, and we arrived at our destination, Hot Springs, S. D., on the thirteenth. "At this resort we stopped at the hotel and were assigned room 23, which was a little removed from thirteen, but nevertheless had been tabooed by the tourists. Continuing our journey we reached Deadwood, S. D., on the thirteenth, and were again assigned to room thirteen. After we settled down we went out and by some hook or crook rented our first home on the thirteenth. We moved from Omaha to Lincoln on the thirteenth and everything went well with us until I was taken sick on the thirteenth of December and remained in bed until August the thirteenth, when I gradually began to recover, and shortly afterwards my second daughter was born on the thirteenth," concluded Mr. Howard.

He said these were the only thirteens he distinctly remembered.

"But," said he, "the landlord selling out on the thirteenth of this month, thereby forcing us to hunt a new home was one of the thirteens that I shall remember for a long time, for in Glendale it is not an easy matter to find a congenial home like the one I have been used to back in Omaha."

"Oh, yes, I remember another occurrence," said Mr. Howard, and he pulled out a land document which meant considerable to him, and which was signed by President Woodrow Wilson on the thirteenth.

ROY KENT AIDS TO BEAUTIFY CLUB GROUNDS

Delivers Palms from South Brand to the Tuesday Folks

A fine exhibition of civic spirit and of conservation was shown by Roy L. Kent this morning when he dispatched two beautiful palm trees which have been ornamenting the grounds of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, where they will be set in locations designated by club officials. These palm trees are of the true California type and have been growing in the spot from which they were removed for at least twelve years. Some of their fellows on the streets were ruthlessly uprooted and dumped in the wash when improvements went in which necessitated the paving of the parkway in which they stood. It was claimed that any other course cost too much for labor and transportation although the city had plenty of parkways in residence sections where they would have beautified the landscape and also had acquired parks.

Mr. Kent's men removed the trees carefully, his teams moved them to the Tuesday Afternoon Club home, and his men replanted them. The value of the gift, which he modestly discounts, can be appreciated when it is known that one citizen who lacked the teams and the land, rescued one such tree and had it replanted at a cost of $25 in cash. Mr. Kent's gift on that basis represents a $50 donation with the trees absolutely free.

Spanish Assemblies to Be Given Today

Two Spanish assemblies are being given today at Glendale High during roll room periods at which a clever play will be presented by pupils in Miss Lambert's A-12 class under her direction. Spanish songs will be sung by pupils in the classes of Miss Daisy Monroe and the orchestra will play selections from Carmen.

The play is a comedy, entitled, "One of Them Must Marry." It portrays the experiences of two bachelor brothers who are professors so interested in their work that they forget to eat or look after their personal belongings. Their aunt and housekeeper becomes disgusted with the situation and insists that one of them must marry, believing that a young wife would keep him in order.

Miss Stevens, head of the Spanish department and her assisting teachers, Miss Lambert and Miss Monroe, are very grateful for the co-operation of the music department under Mrs. Dora Gibson and the Art Department under Miss Beth Abbott for assistance in the program and in the posters advertising the performance. An admission of 10c is being charged and the proceeds will go to a fund which is being accumulated to buy costumes for future productions. Stage furnishings were loaned by the Glendale Furniture company.

'LIFE'S DARN FUNNY' OPENS AT GLENDALE

Viola Dana, Effervescent Little Metro Star Here Today and Saturday

Viola Dana, the effervescent little Metro star whose work on the screen is a thing of undiluted joy, will be seen at the Glendale theater today and tomorrow, in her latest picture, "Life's Darn Funny," a Dallas M. Fitzgerald production adapted from the Saturday Evening Post story, "Caretakers Within," by Christie Jope Slade.

Nearly everybody sometimes in his life has occasion to say apropos of some unusual experience that takes one completely by surprise "Life's Darn Funny." And it is you will think so in this picture when you see Zoe Robert, the ambitious but struggling violinist who is about to launch on her career with a recital, when she discovers the lack of a gown may prevent her debut. As luck would have it, another artist, Clay Warwick, painter by profession and landlady, by necessity, hears her weeping, comes on the scene and designs a stunning frock for her. Both later go into the costume designing business, hoping to gain some money, but things go wrong continually. Always at the eleventh hour something propitious intervenes, and in the end both are launched successfully on their artistic careers.

CUNNINGHAMS HAVE PARTY FOR SON

In honor of the fifteenth birthday of her son, Glenn, Mrs. Eva J. Cunningham entertained with a dinner party on Tuesday evening, February 13, at her home, 114 N. Orange street. Covers were laid for twelve and the decorations were carried out appropriate to St. Valentine and George Washington's birthday. The place cards of red hearts bore humorous titles instead of the real names of the guests and on the backs were written descriptive quotations which were read aloud. The guests were presented with red and white paper caps, which they wore. The dinner consisted of four courses, the piece de resistance being a huge cake lighted by fifteen red candles which was cut by the host. Following the dinner Glenn was presented with several gifts and the remainder of the evening was spent in outdoor games.

IF BACK HURTS BEGIN ON SALTS

Flush Your Kidneys Occasionally by Drinking Quarts of Good Water

No man or woman can make a mistake by flushing the kidneys occasionally, says a well-known authority. Too much rich food creates acids which clog the kidney pores so that they sluggishly filter or strain only part of the waste and poisons from the blood. Then you get sick. Rheumatism, head aches, liver trouble, nervousness, constipation, dizziness, sleeplessness, bladder disorders often come from sluggish kidneys.

The moment you feel a dull ache in the kidneys or your back hurts or if the urine is cloudy, offensive full of sediment, irregular of passage or attended by a sensation of scalding, begin to drink soft water in quantities, also get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any reliable pharmacy and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine.

The famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to activity, also to help neutralize the acids in the system so they no longer cause irritation, thus often ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia water drink which everyone can take now and then to help keep the kidneys clean and the blood pure, thereby often preventing serious kidney complications. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.—Adv.

'HAND OF PROPHET' IS COLORFUL IN ORIENT HUES

Huge Audience Witnesses Triumph of City Actors Premier

By GERTRUDE GIBBS

A huge audience assembled at the Glendale theater Thursday night, demonstrated its pleasure in "The Hand of the Prophet," presented following the picture film of the evening through the courtesy of William Howe, manager, by the Glendale Community Players, under the direction of Nanno Woods. It was billed as a one-act play in three scenes. To the audience, whose imaginations were stimulated before the curtain rose by the odor of incense, it was a vocal and colorful picture, in motion. There wasn't a suggestion of realism to mar the idealism of the setting, the plot or the dramatic movement, but the spectators enjoyed it the more because it was transported for the time from the materialistic world of the Occident to the mimic world of the Orient.

Dorothy Woods, though her hair was golden, was still Dorothy Woods and very pretty as the queen of the harem. Most acceptably she filled the leading Arabian role in the Arabian love story is the pivotal character in the eternal triangle.

Clarence Edwards was convincing as "Kodama," and Nathan Dial again proved that he is very much at home in the character of the pursuing lover, whether in the robes of a sheik or in the college "Smile Again."

Beautiful dancing of the sort we have learned to associate with the Orient, was done by Dorothy Patterson and Kathleen Woods. For this and all the action of the play was provided a charming background of recumbent or sitting figures, most beautifully costumed. These created the spectacle which held and delighted the eye and proved that "they also serve who sit and wait." There were many other fine features, including the stage setting and extra properties which made an artistic ensemble which will long linger in the memories of those who witnessed the performance.

Mr. Warren is very enthusiastic about this new subdivision and says that when he is willing to "shoot" his own money he can certainly recommend the property to his friends, and has sold a lot in this same tract to his friend, James E. Chester, of 351 West Colorado boulevard, Eagle Rock. Mr. Warren, in conversing with Mr. Smith, the tract selling agent, said that he anticipated selling twenty-five lots in this subdivision.

$1000 REWARD
 In twenty months anyone can earn this reward by buying above place direct from builder with small payment and balance like rent. Within less than one year this property will easily sell for

$3500 to $4000
 When you buy it direct from builder at first cost it is not like buying property that has changed hands three or four times and each party making $500 each.

HOW TO MAKE MONEY
 easy. Parties who bought at corner of Broadway and Brand a few years ago did not invest in L. A. Why? Just because they had foresight enough to see the future advantages of GLENDALE'S climate over L. A. This was not luck. It was good judgment and foresight in buying ahead of the rush and high priced property. They knew good and well the mass of people would soon learn they could avoid the fog by securing higher altitude. Sure enough it has happened as they foresaw, and you well know the fancy profits they have made.

TODAY MONROSE
 is to Glendale what Glendale a few years ago was to L. A. These are facts you yourself know. Are you going to be one of those "IF I HAD—"

Remember, talking about it, won't make YOU any money. It is action that counts.

I have another 4-room house roughed in ready for plaster on lot adjoining above house; will finish to suit your own ideas and sell with small down payment.

Will also furnish business lot and put up store building on reasonable terms.

OPEN SUNDAYS

LISTEN, FOLKS
Tuesday we told you that we wanted to clear up the rest of our lots in the Bellhurst tract. Yesterday a man from Los Angeles walked into our office and bought 3 of these lots, saying that after looking around the different cities they were the cheapest lots he had seen. A lady and daughter from Hollywood also bought 2 lots yesterday. The right restrictions are on these lots and the right kind of people are going to live in this district. Are you Glendale people going to go out several miles and purchase property and let outsiders get this choice, close-in residence property. A few more left.

TIME CHANGES THE RELATIONS OF PREXY

PEKING, Feb. 15.—There was a time when Dr. Jacob Gould Schurman, American Minister to China, could call Dr. Sao Ke Alfred Sze, "Alfred," but now he addresses him as "Your Excellency."

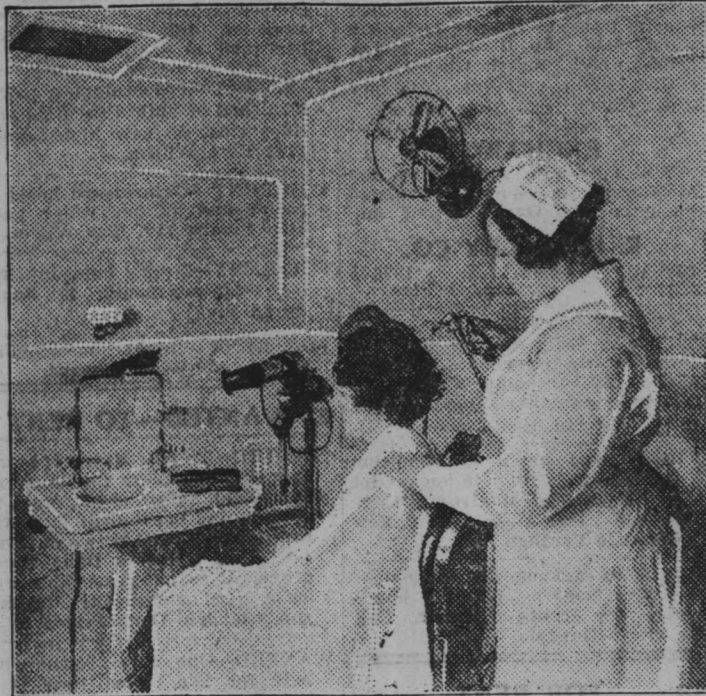

Dr. Sze is Minister of Foreign Affairs for China. Many years ago he was a student at Cornell university, where Dr. Schurman was president.

Today when Alfred Sze writes a little treatise on some American subject, it is not returned with a foot note to the effect that "the diction might be improved in paragraph 3," or "please rewrite."

Instead the little treatise is answered something like this: "Monsieur le Ministre, I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of Your Excellency's note of today, etc." Then he ends it a little more formally than in earlier days, like, "I avail myself of this opportunity, Monsieur le Ministre, to renew to your excellency, the assurance of my highest consideration."

A PONTON BRIDGE spans the Arkansas river at Dardanelle, Arkansas. It is 2,965 feet long from bank to bank. It cost $25,000 and was built in 1891. It contains 72 pontoon boats 24 feet apart (center to center).

Artificial Wave Making Is Popular On U. S. Liners on the High Seas

Corner of Beauty Parlor on S. S. America.

New York. In these days of social activities on ship board, it is as necessary for women passengers to pay as much attention to their hair as to their dress.

After a vigorous day on deck engaged in various sports which are apt to derange the coiffure, my lady does not have to fear that she must attend dinner with rumpled and un-waved hair. She may either summon the hair dresser to her stateroom and there have it shampooed and curled, or go to the beauty parlor, where every modern device may be found, secure in the knowledge that no matter in what particular way she may desire to have the work done, it will be accomplished to her complete satisfaction.

No worry about heating curling irons over alcohol stoves. Just push the button and let Marie do it.

And these beauty parlors, passengers on the United States liners have learned, are more than that. Massage treatments and "facials" given by experts have relieved severe headaches and neuralgia attacks that previously resisted all the efforts of the ship's surgeons to cure them. As a result, the women passengers on these vessels are of the opinion that they are as necessary to the operation of the craft as the rudder.

The President Harding, President Roosevelt, America and the George Washington boat beauty parlors that rival any of the most up-to-date establishments of their kind on land, and the attendants are kept busy during the entire trip each way. Being in touch with the latest styles of hair dressing on both sides of the Atlantic, the attendants are considered experts in their line.

But the men are not neglected either. Every steamship carrying passengers nowadays has its barber shop, with one or more chairs, and these are as well patronized by the men as are those conducted for the women.

Though it is generally known that for years these barber shops have existed aboard passenger vessels, it is only very recently that beauty parlors have been installed on the big vessels, and the fact is attracting the attention of tourists. The United States liners which have these shops are extremely popular with women passengers, to whom the innovation is a very pleasing one.

The Once Over

BY H. I. PHILLIPS

BACK TO FLANNEL NIGHTGOWNS AND NORMALCY

The flannel night gown is coming back. Such is the announcement made at an Atlantic City convention of underwear manufacturers. All America gives a sigh of satisfaction at the news. It is the first convincing indication that radicalism is on the decline and that the country is returning to conservatism, normalcy and the simple habits of its forefathers. And foremothers!

You can judge a nation by the nightgowns it wears. As they sleep ye shall know them.

National decay sets in when the people start going to bed in silks and satins. The real cause of the decline and fall of the Roman empire was the fact that the flannel nightgown was unknown. The populace wore the same kind of clothes to bed at night it wore to the dance.

Nero, if he had any sense, would have cut out the fiddling while Rome burned and sent out a rush order for enough red flannel nightgowns to go round. Under the slogan "Red Flannel Nightgowns For All!" he might have saved the empire.

There is something stable, something strong, something almost noble and essentially moral about a flannel nightgown. In the days of its great struggle for existence Americans knew no other sleeping garment. It was the bulwark of plain living. Pa wore one, ma wore one, and the children each wore one. And the hired man wore one. Sometimes they wore two. They were thick and warm and pretty good looking (the nightgowns, not the wearers). They were generally white with blue and pink stripes. Some were flowered, giving the wearer the effect of being come up in parlor wall paper. Red ones were no uncommon.

When one looked at an American family only assembled in the family robe de nuits in those days one knew the various members were going to bed. There was nothing about the garments to lead any one to think the wearers were going to a Greenwich Village ball or synthetic gin jamboree.

A coal shortage caused no great amount of howling. As long as there was no flannel night gown shortage the people knew they were safe from hardships.

And America was happy, wholesome, highly proper and fairly successful. Then the silk era set in. The silkworm when you come right down to brass tacks, has made America what it is today. Every body took to silk. Flannel underwear was the first thing to go. Silk undies became the rage. At first silk underwear was considered enough o' mark any girl as not respectable. But a few years later found even the Colonial Dames wearing it.

It is worthy of notice that the silk nightgown and Spanish influenza came simultaneously.

The flannel nightgown, linen underwear, and cotton hose went out via the nearest exit. And American civilization began to decline. Pajamas became the fashion.

The decline took on speed from the moment America stopped going to bed in a garment it had to put on over its head.

The country has never been the same since I started getting into nightclothes of the "step in" type. War, scandal, domestic unhappiness, divorce, extravagance, all followed. It is more than likely flannel nightgowns would have kept us out of war.

But they're coming back, praised be Allah! President Harding and the Republican party reported ready to claim the return of the flannel nightgown as the first great victory in the back to normalcy campaign. The president, it is understood, has always worn a flannel one.

If he will admit this and if the G. O. P. makes it a next campaign battle cry, "Americans for Flannel Nightgowns and Flannel Nightgowns for Americans!" the Democrats won't have a look-in.

DAINTY LINGERIE

A new shade somewhat between pink and peach color is seen in dainty lingerie.

SILVER FLASK ON HIP MORE DEADLY THAN GUN, DESPITE QUALITY OF LIQUOR, SAYS JEWELER

This is the warning of Charles H. Layne, New York city jeweler, after considerable scientific investigation. He has discovered that the action of the liquor, no matter how high grade the quality, produces a deadly poison. As proof he offers the following analysis of liquor taken from a silver-plated "life-saver": "Certificate of assay No. 48,855, January 30, 1923. In sample of solution submitted for assay, we find the sample contains a quantity of copper. Some iron is present also." Layne gives the report in full, and says that any good liquor kept in a silver-plated flask will produce a solution ruinous to the human stomach. And he sells silver-plated flasks.

BAKST TELLS OF ARTIFICES OF WOMEN

By HEDDA HOYT

Fashion Editor of the United Press (Written for the United Press)

NEW YORK, Feb. 16.—Leon Bakst, famous costumer and founder of the modern school of costume design, discussed the secrets of feminine artifice and dress before hundreds of fashionable New York women who filled the Plaza ballroom.

He began his lecture on the "silhouette," which he considers the all-important thing in the fashion world.

"Unfortunately," he said, "women suffer from strange myopia, which causes them to think firstly of their faces, their hands and their feet. They give little heed to their silhouettes—the all-important thing."

"Hiding the imperfections of the body is a powerful art. Black is the most powerful color we have to fight bulky imperfections, for black makes whatever it covers disappear and when one sees nothing, one imagines beauty. A man sees a masked woman. She may be as homely as can be, but, allured by her hidden features, the man assumes her to be a beauty."

"Too many fat women make the mistake of wearing clothes that fit too tightly. This is especially so among concert singers, who crush in their fat, thus defeating their own ends."

The too-thin woman also received a bit of valuable advice. Ways of hiding her offending parts by means of false pleats and hip-draperies were shown by screen slides.

"Skinny knees particularly make themselves unbecomingly, unless deftly hidden under carefully devised skirts," said Bakst.

He suggested that the too-thin woman use large designs and ornaments. For her he suggests the light colored furs, such as ermine and squirrel, as they exaggerate fat. On the contrary dark furs with long hair are best for the woman who leans toward embonpoint.

Concerning the corset, Bakst stated that the everted form of which the poets rave, is obtained by abdominal supports, and that in order to give the impression of grace even the slender woman must resort to the artifice of the corset.

In contrasting the American women with the French women Mr. Bakst said: "I confess I do not like the tailored suit, although I realize its importance to women whose work takes them daily into public life. If the business girl could not take revenge upon the half-man that she has been during the day by dressing in feminine clothing at night—Mon, Dieu, what would become of the apostles of beauty?"

American women, according to Bakst, wear their clothing with more severity than do the French women. He claims that the American women look as though their costumes are a little newer and more severe than the Parisians'. About the French woman there is always some little fragile touch of femininity which adds a charm which the Americans in their severity lack.

HOW TO REMOVE MUSTARD STAINS

Mustard stains on table linen are eradicated if the article is boiled in water in which has been dissolved one teaspoonful of washing soda to each quart of water. The boiling should last as long as any trace of the spots remains and should be followed by a thorough rinsing.

SMART COATS

Straight-line coats tied on the left hip are worn by some of the best dressed women. Many are of beautifully embroidered woollens with collars and cuffs of fur.

OBSERVATIONS

BY A GLENDALE OLD TIMER

In the old days when we spoke of a "bare back performer" we referred to the performer on a bare-backed steed. But today a "bare back performer" in a movie or play is a woman whose back is entirely bare and a good many of them are shamelessly showing themselves in this state of nudity nowadays.

Every few days we read of "the last bit of acreage within the limits of Glendale to be subdivided." This is something like the frequent "positively last appearance" announcement of a well-known actress a few years past. And she is still planning for another "last appearance," though 78 years old.

Suppose that some time a really-for-sure "Enforced Every Law" week were to be held in this neighborhood! Can you visualize the dire results of such an unheard-of action? And wouldn't the jails be filled to overflowing, with thousands of prisoners guarded outside, and fines amounting to millions of dollars be assessed? The traffic law violators would be numbered by the thousands, including those who violate the laws against undue speed over bridges and through tunnels. It is probable that not one vehicle driver, especially motorist, of the thousands who use the Third street tunnel in Los Angeles daily obeys the 8 miles an hour speed limit signs that still are in place over the entrances. And every person who sold a chance on any article as well as every person who bought one, together with the promoters of such affairs would be prosecuted for gambling. Every boy who rode a bicycle on the sidewalk, had no bell and no lights, would be penalized also. Every person who stepped on another's land without his consent could be prosecuted. And so on, ad infinitum. I rather think no one will ever propose such a week as this, don't you?

I wonder why it is so easy for the average person to say "fyou" in pronouncing few (he'd never think of pronouncing it "fo"), yet he seldom says "dyoo" for due or dew, "nyoos" for news or "tyoon" for tune. Why is it so easy to pronounce few, refuse, accuse, and such like, correctly, and so difficult in case of the other words named?

It is said that the reason Kansas was the first state in the union to really smash the saloonists and other violators of the prohibition laws, was because a generation had grown up, the great majority of whom had never seen a saloon and its attendant evils—bestialized men, wretched wives and mothers, starved and ragged children. During the first 20 years of Kansas' effort to break away from saloon domination, the prohibition laws were made, or less defied in the larger cities, with the aid of corrupt politicians, and degraded men who thought more of the dollar than of human life and happiness. In the country districts the laws were quite generally observed and saloons were mercilessly suppressed. So, during all the years in which the cities were struggling with venal officials who refused to enforce the laws there was growing up a generation of country voters, who, combining with those in the cities who held principle higher than politics and private gain, swept from office the truckling cowards and put in their places real men, who saw to it that saloons were banished from every foot of ground in the Sunflower state. This was the real reason for the enforcement of the 18th amendment. Bootleggers are few in comparison with the number of upright, sober citizens, and the men who drink simply to show that they can defy the law are becoming fewer, while those who will drink anything that bears the bootleg stamp are rapidly killing themselves off. But the real hope for the rigid enforcement of the provisions of laws upholding the 18th Amendment, is in the rising generation. These young people have never seen a saloon and they are being trained in law observance. The Y. M. C. A. and Boy Scout movements for the boys and kindred organizations for the girls are a mighty power for good government and young people should be encouraged and helped to join these splendid organizations. The training they get therein is uplifting and it will make them God-fearing, law-respecting men and women. We of the present generation may not, probably will not, see America totally dry but the young people that are coming on if all can be trained in the work referred to, will bring about what we cannot. Then let us see to it that every boy and girl is enrolled in some such organization and encouraged to grow up to righteous citizenship.

My dear friend Melville G. Musser of 600 West Colorado has an heirloom that is very precious to him and which has a remarkable history. His father was captain of a company in the Union forces during the Civil war and his command was sent into Texas. The little detachment was surrounded by a largely superior force of the enemy and it was seen that capture was inevitable. To a negro slave woman who was cooking for the company, Capt. Musser delivered his official papers and his valuable gold watch, telling her to secrete them and if he lived until the war was over he would come for them. She faithfully promised to do as he said. He and his forces were captured and held as prisoners till near the close of the war. When free he went to see the woman to whom he had confided his valuables, and she produced every one of them from the secure hiding-place where they had lain since she put them there the day of his capture. She was liberally rewarded for her faithfulness and honesty, which she considered nothing but what her God demanded of her. Melville Musser has that watch today and no money would tempt him to part with it, for bound up in it are not only precious memories of his hero father, but grateful recollection of the fearless honesty of this member of a despised race.

FAKED HOLDUPS IN OIL FIELDS

MEXICO CITY, Mexico, Feb. 15.—Several of the recent holdups of payrolls in the oil fields were faked, according to the Mexican government. President Obregon has issued a statement to the attorney general that there have been a number of incidents in Tampico oil fields where employees of various companies arranged among themselves to stage assaults on paymasters and cashiers who often were in league with the criminals. The president requested the attorney general to make a close investigation.

One evening not long ago I heard in a medley of old songs the bar of the catchy refrain of "Tara-ra boom de-ay," so popular 25 or 30 years ago. It was originated, so it was said, in a London music hall, by Lottie Collins, a pretty and vivacious singer and dancer. Many imitators of the London girl put on the dance in this country with more or less success and finally some enterprising theatre circuit manager brought Lottie over. I saw her on one occasion and she was a healthy, hearty, comely English girl of little or no education. She had a pleasing but not a remarkable voice and the dance was nothing remarkable. Her costume was decency itself compared with the undress displays of today, and she attracted large audiences wherever she went.

Most people have the idea that pearls grow in oysters only and that great ocean oyster beds are the sole source of supply for these gems. But such is not the case. Many fine pearls are taken from mussels that abound in most rivers. About 15 or 20 years ago the discovery of a few handsome pearls in mussels picked up in the Wabash river at various places between Terre Haute, Ind., and Mt. Carmel, Ill., caused a rush of searchers to the many "fields." Of course not all were successful but many beautiful specimens were secured and sold to jewelers. Mt. Carmel was quite a center of the industry for a time and one or two jewelers made a specialty of pearl buying, amassing considerable wealth thereby. Gems worth up into thousands of dollars were discovered and many hundreds of those of lesser values. The industry played out in a very few years, however, and the historic Wabash no longer yields up treasures to the eager searcher.

Many Glendale people remember M. A. Moss who was an agent for the Glendale Laundry for several years. He gave up his situation with the laundry some time ago but recently returned and established a modest business in South Glendale, living in a room over Black's drug store. Last Friday he and a companion were killed near Barstow, while attempting to cross the Santa Fe tracks ahead of a train, in an auto. The fatal accident was reported in the papers but the statement was that Martin A. Moss of Glendale was one of the men killed and no one thought of Moss when reading this. Mr. Moss was a man of sterling integrity and worth. He was quiet and unassuming in manner, always, and the few friends he made prized him highly. He was unmarried.

With the many new buildings going up in the section bordering Pacific avenue on both sides north of the Wash, and the many new streets and extensions of old streets, one badly-needed improvement has been overlooked. This is the opening of Stocker street from San Rafael to Columbus. This street now extends from the 400 block east, to the 600 block west, and is unbroken except at the point named. Why this gap was left when the street was laid out more than 20 years ago, I have never learned, but it is a great detriment to that part of the city and should be done away with at once.

Favorite expressions with some writers are "an unique," "an humble," "an humanitarian view," yet there is no warrant for such a construction, which is not only nonsensical but ungrammatical. It would be just as proper to say or write "an youth," "an young man," "an horse" or "an human." In each case the initial letter of the noun or adjective is a consonant or has the sound of one and such words always require the article "a" instead of "an." The letter "u" when it has the sound of "yu," as in "useful," "unique," and so on, is to all grammatical intent a consonant. So it should be "a unique expression," "a humanitarian view," "a humble servitor," and the like.

PASTEURIZATION is a process of preventing fermentation in liquids such as beer, wine, milk. It is accomplished by heating the liquid from 144 degrees to 149 degrees Fahrenheit.

There may be room at the top, but the security is greater at the other extreme.

Truths in Epigram

Like other plants, virtue will not grow unless its roots be hidden, buried from the light of the sun.—Carlyle.

No matter how you seem to fatten on a crime, that can never be good for the bee that is bad for the swarm.—Froude.

The restraining grace of common sense is the mark of all the valid minds.—Emerson.

"ANYBODY CAN GET A GUN"

"Anybody can get a gun in Los Angeles." These were the words of a professional criminal, brought to bay, and deemed at the last that frankness would be the best method of saving his worthless neck. He was trying to explain why crime was so rampant in the city where his own part in it had culminated in the murder of a policeman. Therefore he spoke of that place particularly. That he told the truth is not to be doubted. Everybody knows, and all but the thugs of the underworld, deplore the situation. That Los Angeles was singled out was due to its having been the scene of this criminal's activities. A similar charge could be brought against every large city in America. The laws in some are more stringent than in others, but uniformly they are defied.

There would be fewer deeds of violence if the weapons for their commission could not be procured. To cut off the supply of lethal instruments would be easy. Regulation of their sale could be effected as simply as the sale of automobiles or real estate. If permission to carry a pistol were to be had only on the request of a reputable citizen, and his showing of necessity for going armed; if the dealer had to report promptly every transaction in firearms, and pay a penalty for transgressing the restrictions; if the desperado caught with a pistol were through this alone reckoned to be guilty of a felony, and punished, there would be a change in the murder total.

Every time a householder is held up, a faithful policeman shot at his post, a bank robbed by day or night, the public, through its wanton and inexcusable laxness, is accessory.

ONE GRAND OLD MAN

Edison is a grand old man. He is seventy-six, still hale and active, interested in the world, devoted to the special problems for which he has a genius. He says that he is going to work until 100 years old, and perhaps he will, and let it be hoped so. All the work he has done has been for the public good. Without Edison the advantage of living in these times rather than half a century earlier would be far less marked.

There could not well be at the age of 76 a finer example of a sound mind in a sound body than that afforded by the master inventor. Therefore his opinions are sought, quoted and respected. As his employees were celebrating the recent anniversary of his birth, Edison was talking to interviewers. He thinks this a pretty good world. He has a word of commendation even for those for whom praise is scant from other sources. The flapper type is recognized by him, but he is quite undismayed. He rebuked the officials of the navy, doubtless with excellent reason, because they had rejected many inventions of his designed for the improvement of naval equipment. The interviewers asked for his ideas touching prohibition, and he responded:

"Sober America; I'm for it by all means. I know prohibition is a failure in the cities, but when wood alcohol kills off all the old soaks, prohibition will have its day. The boys and girls of the next generation won't have any taste for the damned stuff."

Thus is given the opportunity to close with the sentence that opened: "Edison is a grand old man."

SOME MAGAZINE STUFF

George J. Nathan and H. L. Mencken are editors of a magazine. This in itself is not an offense. Much of the matter they publish is brilliant and instructive. Much of it, coming from the editors, is offensive to the point of indecency. Some of the outrageous averments set forth as the convictions of the writers, possibly have been framed for the purpose of inciting protest. Here and there appear evidences of sincerity. These characterize points at which the rottenness is acutely manifest.

One of these alien-minded editors presents a skit with the caption "True Americans." It begins: "What could be more fatuous than the current denunciations of the so-called Ku Klux Klan as an anti-American organization?" Then follows a recital of the atrocious principles and acts of the Klan, leading up to this: "Most important of all, it teaches that it is good morals and good sportsmanship for thirty or forty men to arm themselves, put on false-faces, and then go out and ill-use a man who is alone and unarmed. All these notions are of the heart's blood of Americanism, and particularly the last. Give a man an independent spirit, give him a sense of justice, give him tolerance and charity, above all, give him a keen sense of honor, and you plainly spoil him as an American."

The series of insults closes with a veiled thrust at Americans for having resented the attitude of Germany. So much is quoted, that readers may judge for themselves. The stuff requires no answer, being its own answer. It is the expression of hatred for the country that harbors these enemy editors, and the people who accept them as men of letters. Such insolent and insulting comment is permitted, even tolerated, perhaps laughed at. But from what an unsavory creature, putrid of soul, it must emanate!

Selling poison whisky is a pretty grave crime. When it is sold under counterfeit labels the crime becomes worse. The man who buys and drinks bootleg liquor, knowing what he is doing, and that the stuff comes fresh from the still, runs a risk, but is in no position to ask anybody's sympathy over results, and if the liquor kills him, does not represent a heavy loss to society.

NO RECIPROCITY SHOWN

Apparently the big oil producers of this country are having troubles. Not that the dividends do not keep up, for they do. The complaint they make is that they are hindered from exploiting foreign oil fields. At the same time companies organized in the lands closed by government inhibition to the American individual or corporation, are getting hold of large oil interests in the United States. All this is true of the Dutch and the English in particular. Foreigners come here and acquire vast interests. Americans are forbidden to go to the countries whence these foreigners come, and acquire there similar interests even on a small scale. The lack of reciprocity is striking. It would seem that something ought to be done about it. Perhaps in some measure the American oil men have themselves to blame.

If Americans develop oil fields, organize great concerns to refine and market the output, they certainly have the privilege of holding to their possessions. If a foreign syndicate offers them a price for their holdings, they do not have to accept. They might retain ownership and control profitably. Why not as profitably as the bidder? But if they choose to sell, for them to set up the sound of lamentation does not seem consistent. Nobody had forced them to sell. The probability is that if American investors sought with the persistency and shrewdness of the Europeans to get into oil fields outside the jurisdiction of their home government, they would be equally successful. There really is no spot within civilization where American coin is not welcomed if it choose to go venturing among aliens.

Last Sunday thieves took twenty-five automobiles from the streets of Los Angeles. This was more than the average haul, although the thefts keep at a high level always. There is no safety in parking an automobile over there without locking it, or at least leaving a bulldog to guard it.

RAILROADS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

In his message to congress President Harding said: "I know of no problem exceeding in importance this one of transportation." "But," he added, "we face conditions which reflect its greater inadequacy tomorrow."

"Government operation does not offer the cure. It was government operation which brought us to the very order of things against which we now rebel, and we are still liquidating the costs of that supreme folly."

It is time the country at large faced the railroad problem squarely. The fact is that private capital is on a strike against making any new investment in American railroads, except bonds which involve a lien on the property. No new money has been raised by the issuance of common stock since 1915, and practically none in the last ten years.

Railroad managers cannot make the business earn a return satisfactory to the investors or attractive to new investors under present conditions.

Whatever cripples transportation "cripples the whole country."

With enormously increasing industrial activity, we are building no new railroads and our facilities for transportation are decreasing.

There are only two possible alternatives ahead; one is government ownership and the other is such a change in the present system as will enable railroads to make profits.

No one factor in the country today lays such a dead hand upon prosperity as the way we are treating railroads.

These words of a man who has studied the railroad situation for years are worth thinking over: "Does the political outlook justify belief that future railroad regulation will be of greater or less rigidity? Does not history show that legislation on any matter grows and does not shrink, unless an entire change of policy takes place? A bill has just been introduced by Senator Hiram Johnson of California providing that the interstate commerce commission shall pass on the propriety of each payment of a dividend by a railroad. The President of the United States has just recommended that the railroad labor board be consolidated with the interstate commerce commission, and that the new tribunal be given power to enforce its decrees. It is said there are pending in congress some 134 measures tending further to regulate railroads. Would not such measures simply contribute to the existing rigidity, and merely perpetuate the conditions under which managers find it impossible to earn a satisfactory revenue or promise the probability of satisfactory reward to investors?"

THE LISTENING POST

By James W. Foley

Because one individual has failed to maintain the standard we expected, the cynic is disgusted and discouraged with the world.

Because there is a war he sees the impossibility of peace.

Because one link breaks he casts the chain into the rubbish.

The cynic is not a builder. Not a maker or a mender or a repair man. He is a scoffer and a scolder.

Because one note of the song is flat, he damns music.

Because one foot of the poem limps, he sees no virtue in poetry.

Because the human instrument of government is fallible, he says government is a failure.

Because man is human and weak he sees no virtue in mankind.

Because a blossom wilts and fades he declares against the glory of flowers.

A knot hole would condemn the whole structure. A brick without enough straw would lead him to pull down the wall.

Because religion has its weakness, he denied it any strength.

Because of sin he would deny virtue.

All of which is the nature of the cynic. He is not tolerant. He is not broad or understanding. He is little and crabbed and shallow. He does not know that for every evil thing there are a thousand or a million good ones.

"Blow Softly Thrush"—By Joseph Russell Taylor (1868—)

AMAZED AND AGOG

By ESTELLE LAWTON LINDSEY

As the next innovation calculated to rest the nerves of the over-wrought public I suggest vacations for words.

This is done not only in the interest of humanity, but of the vocabulary as well, for unless we ease the strain on some words they will soon be so completely threadbare that we will cease to use them.

In the past decade we have for this reason scrapped many words and some phrases which before the invention of the ever busy printing press had served admirably for the expression of qualities and combinations during a measurable number of centuries.

With the growth of startling headlines, specific words that fit nicely into restricted spaces are being done to death; and I predict that annually we shall have to retire more and more of them. Of course we have a constant new crop developing from slang, from war expression and mother-in-law, an invalid wife and a few odd relatives on his wage earning shoulders plays the races and comes up short in his accounts, though the same combination has for ages untold produced a like effect.

And agogness is the order of the day in fashionable circles, chiefly because young people who have been going together since they were pin-folds and knickerbockers decide to continue to go together in matrimonial harness.

Since I can remember society has been agog. Why not retire the poor overworked word and let the agile brains of the society reporters invent something just as good to use in its place?

Since so many people are seeking interesting employment I suggest that somebody devise a revolving vocabulary and get a law passed fining everybody who refuses to use the words serially.

Amazement smites a community like a streak of summer lightning when a $20 a week cashier with a family of six children under ten, a

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

Revising a prayer that has been made, is something new in legislative endeavor. The task presents difficulties. It would be interesting to know how the lawmakers of Colorado are getting along with it.

The chaplain did the praying. Into his petition he deftly wove the statement that the courts are corrupt. To this he added the expression of belief that God had been driven from the churches. He had boys and girls going to the dogs, laboring men going to work with empty pails (carried perhaps as a bluff). He said that farmers were starving while middlemen waxed fat on exorbitant profits.

It is not easy to see for whose information he was loosing all these allegations. The prayer, supposed to be addressed to an omniscient Deity was not required to impress such facts upon the divine mind, while mortal mind rejected them. Perhaps in some of the charges lies the half-truth, the shadow of verity. For example, courts have been known to be corrupt, and to stand in need of being prayed for. Yet the statements, as they were bawled out where a reporter took down every word, were too startling to pass unnoted. The legislators wanted the chaplain to take back his accusations.

Sectarians who have gathered to formulate a prayer for use in service, may make suggestions, eliminations, additions, and finally arrive at a conclusion pleasing to all. But the spoken prayer is different. It has winged its way, not to be recalled. The chaplain might frame a new prayer, having less the seeming of an indictment, but it is too late for him to do anything with the old one. That has gone beyond his jurisdiction.

A man of thirty was arrested recently for the sixth time. He had been drinking hair tonic and taking acutely dangerous tablets. The police pumped him out, and probably before this time somebody has bailed him out. He comes of a respectable family and spends his energy in disgracing it.

Another plan that comes to mind regarding such a common nuisance is to lock him in a room with plenty of hair tonic, a peck of his favored tablets, and go away, hoping for the best.

Arthur Brisbane asks people not to laugh as he mentions the possibility of human control of the elements at least to the extent of producing rain. On many occasions the gentleman sets down that which seems incomplete because not accompanied by a similar request to refrain from mirth. His remarks concerning artificial rainfall happen to be eminently sensible. He shows where they rest on a reasonable scientific hypothesis, growing out of the fact that at the center of each rain drop is a particle of dust. Fill the upper air with dust grains of a nature to attract moisture, and why should they not attract it, and descend with it?

There are scientists, not the fakers who "make" rain for hire, who believe the plan, as yet only outlined in a general way, is to prove feasible. Moreover, nobody laughs now at the proposal to accomplish the seemingly most wildly impossible thing ever undertaken.

The contest between society and the underworld continues, marked here and there by fierce outbreaks. Apparently one side is about as well equipped as the other, and the ultimate outcome appears in doubt.

It is a common jest that the weather bureau generally guesses wrong. The weather bureau does not guess. It derives its conclusions from data scientifically collected, and generally is right.

The mariner knows, when he is warned by the forecaster of a coming storm, that a storm is coming.

Few objections seem to be voiced to the project of permitting nine to give the verdict of a jury composed of twelve. That is an impressive majority, and there has been cited no reason why majority rule, so generally accepted, should not prevail in the courts.

In the recent history of criminal actions in the courts of Los Angeles county, for example merely, for they are no worse than courts elsewhere, persons known to be guilty have escaped punishment, and in instances there were less than three jurors holding out for acquittal.

Under present conditions a single obdurate, stupid or corrupt juror has power to render useless the opinions of an honest and intelligent eleven.

An ominous number of deaths ascribed to gas are reported. Not in every instance has the gas been extinguished, but while burning it had exhausted the life-sustaining properties of the air.

Occasionally there is heard the charge that freedom of the press is denied in this country. At the same time there are publications that make a business of slandering the government, and traducing all things American.

There seems to be no limit to freedom of the press, but a limit to the intelligence of those who abuse the freedom most, proclaiming all the while that it does not exist.

Last November the employees of the eleventh naval district were given a holiday in which to celebrate the signing of the armistice. Somebody higher up discovered later that there was no legal provision for the granting of such a favor, and so the employees have been docked for loss of time.

Had an individual employee been guilty of such a course it would have been termed a dirty trick.

WATCHING THE PARADE

By JOHN PILGRIM

One of these days the equality of the sexes will have been perfectly established and then we can cut out a fool woman just as we now cut out a fool man. Chivalry cannot stand competition. The moment that the trousered sex finds it has to go to the bat every waking minute to keep the cute little trick in knickerbockers from taking its job away, that moment chivalry will sink. And when that day comes I'm going to say to Mrs. Jimmie Logan:

"Look here, you poor nut. Why don't you let that kid of yours hustle for his life Jimmie did?"

The Jimmie Logans have been moderately successful. Jimmie could quit right now, if he wanted to, and never do another tap. He would like to quit, for he has a serious camera complex, doubled with a travel bug. He wants to see strange lands and take pictures of them. He spends what little spare time he has in reading travel books, which are the best reading there is. He could almost pilot the boat in and out of forty harbors he has never seen. But Mrs. Jimmie won't let him.

"I want to know that my son will never come to want," says she.

So Jimmie is kept at work, although he has a flicker in his heart that may, some time, threaten trouble, and the cub is taking a few more sorts of special education for which he lacks the cubic capacity. He is a good kid, mind you. Honest and likable and mischievous and full of energy. If he were turned loose to get his own he would get it—and he would like it. He isn't intended by nature to play the part of the idler. My hope is that one of these days he will break away from that fond, foolish mother and get out on his own.

"I thought her a new fur coat for Christmas," said Jimmie, "and she turned it in and got the money and added it to the private bank account she is building up for the kid."

Wait until the day of sex equality comes. Then listen to me talk to Mrs. Jimmie Logan.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—?

NEW ENGLAND IS WORKING OVER TIME

Babson Points Out Good
Markets in the Northeast

WELLESLEY HILLS, Mass., Feb. 16—Roger W. Babson, at the beginning of each year, makes a personal trip of inspection throughout the United States, comparing actual conditions with those reflected by the statistics. Although his trip, covering some thirty states and twenty-six leading cities, is not yet complete, his findings in New England, as outlined in an authentic statement given today, shows that section of the country in good condition.

"The business depression which has been moving like a storm wave across the United States during the past two years," says Mr. Babson, "started in 1919 in Connecticut. To be exact, Bridgeport, Conn., was the first city to really suffer. During 1920 entire New England was under the cloud and employment was prevalent throughout the states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. Before any other section—with the possible exception of the south—experienced trouble, New England was in the midst of a business depression. In accordance with the Law of Action and Reaction, New England would, therefore, be the first to recover. Improved conditions, therefore, made their appearance late in 1921. If it had not been for the textile strikes of last year, 1922 would have been a very good year for most of this section. Owing, however, to these textile strikes—which were not settled until the latter part of the year—New England business has held back. Conditions are now reasonably satisfactory and these six states are all doing well.

"Maine—although suffering from an unfortunate potato crop—is enjoying an increased demand for pulp, paper and her other products. New Hampshire's cotton mills are working full capacity; the woolen and most of the other industries of Massachusetts are in good shape. Rhode Island is very busy, and Connecticut is coming back as rapidly as can be expected. Of course, Connecticut war work is gone—and I hope gone forever—but the manufacture of hardware is growing. Owing to the great era of suburban building—due to the automobile—the demand for Connecticut hardware should be very great for some years to come. Vermont is the only New England state which is not showing much activity.

"Readers desiring to sell goods or secure employment in New England should visit such cities as Springfield, Holyoke, Worcester and Fall River, Mass.; Manchester, N. H., and Portland, Maine. The shoe cities of Lynn and Brockton show some improvement over last year, but have not yet come fully back; Boston is still fairly quiet and Providence is not as active as Springfield and Worcester. All New England cities are profiting from the good investment conditions of today. New England is the home of investors. Hence, when stocks and bonds are low, New England feels poor. Today, however, with a strong stock market and a good bond market, people feel more like spending money. This means that not only are the wage workers of New England buying merchandise, but the well-to-do are also freely spending

WIDOW OF CALIFORNIA CONGRESSMAN ELECTED TO FILL HIS UNEXPIRED TERM, AND DAUGHTER

Defeating six men, Mrs. Mae E. Nolan, widow of Representative John I. Nolan of San Francisco, finished first by 2371 votes in a special election to fill both her husband's unexpired term and the full term for which he had just been elected. Mrs. Nolan, the first woman elected to congress in California, is seen here with her little daughter.

money. To quote Mr. Ford: "In some sections I shall sell more Fords and in other sections more Lincolns in 1923, but in New England I expect to sell more of both grades of cars."

"Land is still reasonable in price throughout these six states. People coming from other sections of the country are astonished at the low figures quoted on the finest suburban land, especially within ten miles of Boston. Good land for building, with all conveniences—such as water, gas and electricity, can be bought for twelve cents a foot, and the choicest lots can be secured at twenty cents. This means that the suburban development in New England should be very great during the next few years. Consequently there will be a keen demand for building materials, and both skilled and common labor. New England is fast becoming the great summer playground of the United States—as people go to Florida and California in the winter, they visit New England in the summer.

"The growth of the summer business conferences which we hold every year at Wellesley, reflects this tendency. Each year for three years, the Babson Institute has been obliged to build a new and larger auditorium to take care of the visiting business men who came between July 25 and August 10 from all parts of the country. Northfield and the other conference centers have had a similar experience and all are looking forward to 1923 being our biggest year—ever—for high-grade summer resorts.

"When studying New England conditions, it is most interesting to consider the sources of wealth in these six states—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island and Connecticut. They are almost void of natural resources. They have no coal or iron, no copper or other metals. The fields of New England are fertile—I remember my grandfather, who was a farmer in Gloucester, saying that all his possessions were rocks and bushes and a little religion. Great stone walls on every farm are evidence that the early settlers certainly had rocks to contend with. Statistics show the real assets of New England to be her industry, thrift, honesty and desire to be of service. It has been these intangible—but all-important—forces which have made New England. These six states stand today a monument to what can be accomplished without natural resources if people are only actuated by the right motives.

"Improved conditions in New England strongly suggests that the trouble today with some of the poorer sections of our country is that they lack industry, thrift, honesty or a desire to be of service. Activity in the northeast is largely responsible for the high figure registered this week by the Babson chart. It now stands at 3 per cent above normal. When you consider that this figure combines all lines of industry—and knowing as you do how dull are certain sections and certain lines—the part played by New England in bringing up this figure is most evident."

RICKSHA DOOMED
PEKING (By mail to United Press).—The ricksha, the little pneumatic-tired vehicle of convenience that is always associated with Chinese life in the foreign mind, is doomed. In its place is coming the pedicab, or thericapped, or whatever convenient name may be applied. The new vehicle will have a seat like a ricksha, but will have three wheels like the little American delivery cart. The coolie will pedal and not run.

An English firm is going to put 6000 of them in Shanghai to compete with motor buses, trams and old-time rickshas. Once in Shanghai the new thing will advance quickly to other cities.

ONE GREAT PROVINCE
In 1686 James II of England united New York, New Jersey and all New England into one great province to be ruled over absolutely by a governor appointed by the king. Edmund Andros was appointed governor.

The Lord meant brothers to be a horrible warning to a girl, but it doesn't seem to do a bit of good when another fellow comes along.

INVASION OF THE SOUTH BY COTTON MILLS IS ON

BY DON H. HINGA
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 16.—Another invasion of the south by the powerful cotton mill interests of the New England states leading the vanguard of the new movement, is under way.

Beginning twenty-five years ago with a few scattered mills migrating from the cradle of the cotton mill industry to the cotton fields of the south, the movement in recent years has assumed large proportions.

During the last year three of the largest cotton mills in the world have made arrangements to move into the fields of North and South Carolina. They are:

The Appleton Mills of Lowell, Mass., which now has under construction at Forest City, N. C., a factory which will accommodate 115,000 spindles and 25,000 looms. The Lancaster Mills of Clinton, Mass., have recently purchased approximately 200 acres of land near Winstboro, S. C., for the erection of a huge factory. An investment of several million dollars will be made, it is said.

The Pacific Mills, operating the largest print works in the world, at Lawrence, Mass., have announced their intentions of building extensively in the south. The Jencks Spinning company of Pawtucket, R. I., will also transfer some of their equipment to the south, it has been announced.

The economic desirability of having the cotton mills located as close as possible to the source of supply, coupled with the natural advantages of the south, are the basic reasons behind the industrial migration, southern economists say.

"The south has many advantages to offer cotton manufacturers," says L. L. Arnold, editor of "Cotton," the largest textile magazine published.

"First the nearness to the source of raw cotton and the abundant water power with adjacent coal fields, make the south the logical location for the cotton mills of the country," he said. "Then too the ample transportation facilities, excellent climatic conditions and the settled conditions of southern labor make the southern states the ideal site."

Robert Amory, president of the association of cotton manufacturers, said:

"New England has lost sight of the development the cotton interests have brought her. The south still appreciates the cotton mills and wants more."

Settled labor conditions, necessitating only a small labor turnover, and reducing the probability of expensive strikes, have proved one of the trump cards of the south in bidding for the mills.

Ninety per cent of the mills that have transferred their operations to the south in the past decade control complete townships around their plants.

Company stores, operated on a cost basis, furnish every necessity to the workers at prices below competing stores. Company hospitals, schools, industrial classes and theatres are operated without cost or with a fee only large enough to meet running expenses. Many of the larger mills provide the workers with homes which become their property upon an agreed term of service.

CURIOUS RADIO PHENOMENON

By L. W. STAUNTON
New York City

A group of radio experts made a very "important" discovery which means a great deal to every radio fan since it will allow him to receive the broadcasted programs more clearly and over greater distances. The discovery has to do with the acoustic properties of the radio headsets. If two violins or other musical instruments are played in perfect unison, the resulting sound will be clearer and much louder than would be possible if the two instruments were a bit "out of step"—out of tune—or out of "resonance," as the physicists say. It is also possible to gain an understanding of this phenomenon by considering a note in the middle register of a piano. This note is made by a single key striking three wires of exactly the same length and tension. The result is a strong, clear note since the

NATIONAL ORANGE SHOW OPENS THIS EVENING

San Bernardino Thrills
With Excitement of Anticipation

Tonight is the night that the National Orange Show opens its gates for California's greatest mid-winter event and the citizens of San Bernardino are agog with the thrill of anticipation. For this year the gigantic exposition of citrus fruit is expected to attract even greater crowds than in previous years, and exposition boosters assert the annual show will be a spectacle worthy of the increased attendance.

Sixteen feature exhibits from as many California communities and organizations is one of the big features of the exposition. Each exhibit is the work of a master designer and decorator, and the results they have achieved promises a feast of beauty unequalled in the history of state expositions. The huge industrial exhibit includes an auto show and a glimpse of the industrial phases of California's greatest industry. Here, too, will be seen the by-products division, and housewives from many sections of the state will be given the chance of obtaining interesting insight into new ways of using citrus fruits.

Then the midway de luxe. Here the latest vogue in delicious pastimes will be provided in a variety certain to stir the interest of young folk and older folk who have remained young. There will be music for dancing, and devotees of popular and classical music will hear Santa Monica's Municipal Band in repeated varied programs.

Foley's Friendly Fancies

JAMES W. FOLEY

And how I disliked to get up when she called me
And start off to school in the snow and the storm.
My eyes were so heavy and I was so drowsy
I never got up at the time that I should,
Then off came the covers and I felt that hair brush
Laid on in the place where it did the most good.

Yes, well I remember that old-fashioned hair brush,
The best educator my memory knows,
It taught me a lot from the first time I felt it
Laid on in my humble and recumbent pose.
And sometimes I think 'twould be well to recall it,
That sturdy old hair brush, now gone to decay,
And lay it on briskly and help solve some problems
That seem to harass and beset us today.

That handy old hair brush,
That spanking good hair brush,
How useful the lessons it taught in its way.

MAILING LETTERS IN RUSSIA
to foreign countries costs 200,000 rubles for 20 grams at the present time. Post cards cost 120,000 rubles. Registration costs 200,000 rubles. The equivalent of 200,000 rubles is 50 centimes gold (10 cents). In order to find room for the many postage stamps required because of depreciated postage, long strips of paper have been added to envelopes. A registered letter was received recently, to which was affixed a strip of paper six inches wide and fifteen feet long, on both sides of which 250,000 ruble stamps were pasted.

FOLKS ARE FED UP FULL ON COW LETTUCE

PASADENA, Feb. 16. (United Press).—From alfalfa soup to alfalfa nuts was the program of a banquet at a fashionable hotel here, attended by over 600 persons. They said it was delicious, alfalfa and all.
Before the banquet several speakers extolled the value of alfalfa as a food. Here was the menu:
Alfalfa salad.
Prime ribs of beef (alfalfa fed).
Potatoes with alfalfa gravy.
Muffins with alfalfa syrup.
Alfalfa jelly.
Alfalfa tea or alfalfa coffee.
Alfalfa wafers and alfalfa ice cream sundae.
"Mo-o-o-o" cheered the guests, when a speaker arose.
The dinner was given by several men experimenting in the development of alfalfa as a food, who are hopeful of some day running the price of the stuff up to hundreds of dollars a ton through putting it out in small packages, as "Sun Maid Alfalfa" or the like.
Maid Alfalfa contains a number of important substances, including the mysterious "vitamines" not contained in other kinds of flour, scientists say. Experimenters hope to find a way to make use of the weed for other purposes than feeding cattle.

Patience and perseverance sometimes are so persistent that they call for the strong arm treatment.
